WHAT YOU NEED

6 pieces of white paper, colored pencils or crayons, research materials (books or the internet), help from a grownup

WHAT YOU DO

It's your turn to write a fabulous fish adaptations picture book! Research five fish. For each one, find three adaptations. How does the fish hunt? How do they stay safe? How do they move? How do they spawn? How do they take care of their young?

Draw one fish per piece of paper. Be sure to put a title at the top of the page so your readers know what fish you researched.

Then, write the adaptations that you learned about for each fish. When the pages are done, put them together. Use your last piece of paper as a cover. Add a title and illustrate it. Be sure to include your name as the author! When you are finished, share your picture book with family and friends.

If you use a binder or paperclip to keep your book together, you can add pages. What other fabulous fish adaptations can you find?
